

Photos Available for Media Use for the 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo

To obtain full-size, high-resolution images for the thumbnails shown below, go to http://www.rlep.org/programs/expo2007/expo\_presskit.htm and follow the instructions to download the photos.

The 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo logo is also available for download.

The 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo will be held June 2 at the Fauquier County Fairgrounds in Warrenton, Virginia, and will feature many informative exhibits. A young visitor was intrigued by an educational solar-powered toy at last year's Expo. Photo by Lili Duvall.

Finished bricks made from ordinary soil roll from TerraBuilt's "Green Machine." See the "Green Machine" in action at the 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo. Photo by Lili Duvall.

Solar energy expert Bryan Walsh of Solar Connexion, speaking to the crowd, will be available to answer visitors' questions at the 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo. Photo by Lili Duvall.

See Adobe bricks being made at the 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo using TerraBuilt's "Green Machine." Photo by Lili Duvall.

Exhibitor Bradley Schneider of Recovered Energy Resources will be available to answer visitors' questions at the 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo. Photo by Lili Duvall.

TerraBuilt will bring the "Green Machine" to the 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo. The machine makes adobe bricks from ordinary soil as you watch. Photo by Lili Duvall.

Virginia Sustainable Building Network's Pam Vosburg will consult with visitors to 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo. Photo by Lili Duvall.

Exhibitor explains how TerraBuilt's "Green Machine" operates. Photo by Lili Duvall.

David Thornton of Piedmont Biofuels will share his expertise with visitors to the 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo. Photo by Lili Duvall.

Exhibitor Charles Bigelow of Light Speed Power will share his expertise in solar energy applications with visitors to the 2007 Piedmont Alternative Energy Expo. Photo by Lili Duvall.